4-year ACT Score Average

The ACT test is the most widely accepted university entrance exam. The ACT assesses high school students' general educational development and their ability to complete university-level coursework. Universities use the ACT scores and SAT scores as predictors of university success.

Percent of ACT-Tested Students Ready for University-Level Coursework

Through research with universities nationwide, ACT established readiness benchmark scores for designated university courses. They established score levels in English, Math, Social Science, and Science that would be predictors of university success. This graph shows what percentage of students were predicted to have success in the following college courses based on their ACT scores.

Nebraska Christian Schools

Anh (Jerry) is a senior at Nebraska Christian and plans on attending the University of Nebraska after high school graduation in May. Loan (Lindsey) is a junior and in her second year of study at Nebraska Christian Schools. She hopes to pursue a major in Dentistry when she enters college.

“I am planning on attending the University of Nebraska next year. I will be seeking a degree in electrical engineering. They have a strong engineering program and I will save a lot of money by going to the University of Nebraska.” — Jerry

Any student who graduates from Nebraska Christian Schools is considered an in-state student and as such gets to attend the University of Nebraska as a resident student. In 2012 an international student paid approximately $36,000 for the year at the University of Nebraska, while in-state tuition was about $18,000 for the year. This is a savings of approximately $18,000 for each year of college after graduating from Nebraska Christian.

“I really appreciate going to school at Nebraska Christian. The relationship we have with the teachers is so different than what I was used to in Vietnam. Teachers are much more accessible and willing to give you personal help whenever you need it. The teachers are very friendly.” — Lindsey

Nebraska Christian students Anh (Jerry) and Loan (Lindsey).

“I love the dorm. You can make friends from so many different parts of the world. We encourage each other and have a lot of fun together. The dorm parents are always willing and able to help. We also have tutors in the dorm that are a great help in our studies. When we have home stays the families make us feel so welcome. It is a great opportunity to learn American culture and let Americans learn about yours as well.” — Lindsey

The international program at Nebraska Christian School is a residency program. Students have home stays at Christmas and Easter.

“Our trips are fantastic. I have been to Washington, D.C.; Houston, Texas; San Antonio, Texas; and Kansas City, Mo. We have gone to Broadway plays, concerts, and other cultural events.” — Lindsey

Trips are a vital part of the international program experience at Nebraska Christian Schools. In recent years our students have attended The Phantom of the Opera, Les Miserables, Mary Poppins, Westside Story, and The Nutcracker, along with concerts by Mannheim Steamroller and the Yamato Drummers. The boys have attended NBA games the last two years.
